

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a method and system for restructuring a debt instrument without retiring the underlying debt in order to obtain favorable accounting treatment. In particular, the method allows long-term, fixed-rate tax exempt bonds to be refinanced without actually retiring the existing bonds.